- (a) The owner for the time being of every parcel of land specified in the certificate as being served or intended to be served by the pipe line shall have a right to the free and uninterrupted use of the pipe line; and a right, for himself and his servants and agents, after giving reasonable notice, to enter upon any land shown in the certificate as land over or through which the pipe line passes and (so far as is reasonably necessary for the purpose) on other land to which the certificate relates for the purpose of relaying or effecting necessary repairs to the pipe line, subject to the restoration as nearly as is reasonably possible of the surface of the land to its former condition:

These various kinds of impurities, particularly foreign dusts, are usually removed by means of centrifugal and tangential separators. The latter are used in the case of liquids and vapors, and the former in the case of gases. The centrifugal separator is a cylindrical vessel, the axis of which is horizontal, and the liquid or vapor is introduced at one end. The centrifugal force causes the heavier impurities to be thrown to the outer wall, and the lighter gas or liquid to pass to the other end. The tangential separator is a cylindrical vessel, the axis of which is vertical, and the liquid or vapor is introduced at the top. The tangential force causes the heavier impurities to be thrown to the outer wall, and the lighter gas or liquid to pass to the bottom.
